north side of the grade. William Langford, Charles Gilmore and James Storey, came to the city yesterday afternoon and talked the matter over with Attorney Christensen. They freely expressed their opinion that the act of attempting to cut the ditch through by night was of a criminal nature and that both Senator Brown and his tenant. Mark Jones, should be arrested. The county attorney agreed with them that the two parties mentioned could be arrested, but said the principle of the affair would have to be settled in the civil court. He accordingly alvised them to await the outcome of the case that is now pending, and have Senator Brown do the same thing. After the case was settled they could take such action as was warranted. It was pointed out that if the case in court were decided against them they could appeal it and commence a new action against Senator Brown, and if the case went in their favor it would be an easy matter to restrain the ex-senator from digging the ditch. The farmers announced their willing-ness to agree to this, provided they

The farmers announced their willingness to agree to this, provided they would be given the assurance that Senator Brown would not be allowed to cut the ditch through the grade in the meantime and flood them out of their homes. Mr. Christensen stated that he would notify the senator that if he attempted to complete the ditch. if he attempted to complete the ditch before the decision in the pending case was given, he would lay himself and his tenant liable to arrest.

Senator Brown expressed himself as willing to give the farmers all the time they desired and would do nothing until the case was settled.

The seeds of the present trouble were sewn, according to the statements of the farmers, when the residents on the south side of the grade dammed the Jordan in this vicinity, raising the water four feet higher. This made the water level above that of the surrounding farms, and they claim the

GOING TO BIENNIAL COMING

Another Trainload of Eastern Baptist Preacher Believes the Women Passes Through Salt Lake.

A special train of twenty-one cars, carrying the New England delegation, numbering 325 delegates, to the biennial at Los Angeles, passed through the city yesterday over the Rio Grande Western. It was a busy feminine crowd, only thirty-five men being aboard, including the conductors of the excursion, who were Carroll Hutchins, Charles Alden Cook, Alfred O. Hewitt, Robert H. Stewart and Chester W. Smith. These men are gallants by nature, but they swore that they had a kick coming about the way the women of the second section grumbled. In their opinion the meals were bad, the service was frightful, the curves and grades were altogether unnecessary, the mountains were not high enough, the itinerary was all wrong—the trip, in fact, was a dismal failure to the words of those who received the roars may be reised upon.
